200 SHIP PASSENGERS ADRIFT IN SMALL BOATS

Dirigible R-100 Returns Home Triumphantly

STORMS BLOCK HER SETTING NEW RECORD

MADE FLIGHT FROM MONTREAL TO CARDINGTON IN LESS THAN 57 HOURS

A LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD GREETED SHIP UPON ARRIVAL

Cardington, England, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—The dirigible R-100 returned storm-beaten but triumphantly today from a round-trip flight to Montreal.

The dirigible, which failed to set a new record across the Atlantic ocean because storms delayed its arrival, reached Cardington at 9:40 A. M. GMT. (3:40 A. M. CST.), after a flight of 56 hours and 10 minutes from St. Hubert's Airport at Montreal.

After flying to the air base and maneuvering into position, the R-100 dropped its mooring cable at 10:30 A. M., making the elapsed time between departure from St. Hubert mooring mast and the mooring mast here a little less than 57 hours.

The crowd was large and enthusiastic when the mooring operation was completed at 11:05 A. M. GMT. (5:05 A. M. CST.) and the passengers prepared to descend.

As the mooring lines of the mast and the airship were connected, the R-100 discharged its water ballast, which fell like rain from the ship's position about 600 feet above the ground.

Mooring of the dirigible was difficult because of a 20 mile an hour wind. Many thousands of spectators, including the wives or sweethearts of members of the crew, witnessed the arrival and cheered the big ship. The roads to the field were thickly crowded with automobiles.

The flight of the R-100, along a route of some 3,400 miles, was rapid except when the ship encountered storms over the Atlantic. The Graf Zeppelin's record time from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen—about 4,200 miles—in 55 hours and 24 minutes.

The British dirigible ended its voyage opening airship communication with distant parts of the empire in fair weather, having made good time after it emerged from the rain and clouds off the Irish coast.

Spectators at the home base cheered the ship's appearance on the horizon. Lord Thompson, Sir Sefton Branker and other officials of the air ministry were present to welcome home the officers and crew.

The dirigible was moored at 11:02 A. M. GMT. (5:02 A. M. CST.) and a large crowd cheered as officers and passengers began disembarking at 11:20 A. M.

A twenty-mile wind and bumpy atmosphere conditions made mooring slower than usual.

The official time of the homeward voyage was announced by the air ministry as 59 hours.

MINNESOTA GOLD STAR STAR MOTHER LEAVES HOSPITAL IN PARIS

Paris, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Lizzie Schafman, Minnesota gold star mother, was given permission to leave the American hospital today after a brief illness and will join her party at Verdun.

Meanwhile, preparations were completed for the return to the United States of the body of Mrs. Harriet Bates, 69, of Portage, Pa., who died at Verdun of apoplexy before she had visited her son's grave at Romagne cemetery.

AL CAPONE IS REPORTED TO BE IN CICERO

Chicago, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—"Scarface Al" Capone, west side gang chieftain, whose whereabouts have been kept under close scrutiny since the murder of his friend, Alfred J. Linle, Tribune reporter, was reported today to be in Cicero.

Capone has kept "out of the picture" during the recent turbulent happenings in gangland, at war again in retaliatory moves traceable to the Lingle slaying and the killing of Jack Zuta, one of the leaders of the north side Moran-Aiello gang.

LONG DROUGHT IN IOWA BREAKING UP

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—One of the longest droughts in history was breaking up in Iowa today as rain fell in many sections and forecasts included promise of general heavy precipitation.

Corn that sacrificed upwards of 50,000,000 bushels to the drought which lasted throughout July and well into August, will be immeasurably benefited by a general rainfall, according to weather and crop experts.

London, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—It was reported in Ankara today that 300 Kurdish insurgents and 40 Persians were killed in recent fighting on the frontier, a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company said.

ZUTA RECORDS GIVE LEAD IN GANG PROBE

CORRESPONDENCE FOUND IN 2 SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES IN CHICAGO

SPECIAL BOARD OF STRATEGY IN LINGLE CASE EXAMINING SAME

Chicago, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—State's Attorney John A. Swanson and his assistants made public today evidence which they declare definitely linked numerous officials in underworld activities of Jack Zuta, recently slain gangster lieutenant.

The evidence was in the form of records which Zuta, a leader in the Moran-Aiello-Zuta north side gang, kept during the years before he was shot down in a Wisconsin lake resort.

These records were found in two safety deposit boxes by Charles T. Rathbun, Chicago Tribune attorney, and Pat Roche, chief investigator for Swanson. Both men are members of the special board of strategy investigating the murder of Alfred 'Jake' Lingle, Tribune reporter. They have uncovered evidence indicating Zuta engineered the murder of Lingle and was then killed by his own gangsters, who feared he had "squealed."

The records, they believed, were the most important evidence found in either case and believed they might lead to a solution of both murders.

Some of the names which the investigators said they found in the Zuta records on cancelled checks or notes were those of Emanuel Eller, former municipal, superior and criminal courts judge; Joseph W. Schulman, a municipal court judge for many years; George Van Lent, former state senator and political leader; Louis I. Fisher, attorney and brother of a circuit court judge, and Richard J. Williams, sergeant of police.

A balance sheet published in the Tribune today was headed "Period ending Nov. 12, inclusive," and investigators said it represented the financial dealings of the Moran-Aiello-Zuta combine for one week only. They found, they said, records for many other weeks, some of which would be more startling than the one released. Among the cancelled checks made public was one for $500 payable to the "Regular Republican Club of Cook County," and signed by Zuta. It had a rubber stamp endorsement in which appeared the name of Charles V. Barrett, member of the board of review.

The ledger page Zuta so carefully kept the years he managed the north side gang, throw new light on the methods of racketeering.

Heading the entries is a list of names, presumably collectors, who for the period turned in almost $100,000, all of which went into the "profits" column. Next is a long list of road houses and cabarets. They poured amounts varying from $3,000 to $50,000 into the coffers of the gang. Expenses, however, ran high on these items, in some cases as much as half or two-thirds of the sums turned in.

The expense items were interpreted by investigators as indicative that the Moran saloons, vice resorts and gambling houses turned in their profits by collectors and represented pure profit. The "independents," it appeared, were less remunerative, presumably too many others getting a slice of the receipts.

One entry was "George M." believed to be George "Bugs" Moran, titular head of the gang. He withdrew $1,454 for the period. The books further revealed that Zuta, who was riddled with machine gun bullets recently in a Wisconsin summer resort, really was the chief of the gang instead of Moran and Joe Aiello, heretofore credited with the power.

"Jack personal," an entry supposed to represent Zuta himself, was $1,400 in the "red" on the books.

The tangled background of 52 gangland murders so far this year seemed destined to be cleared somewhat by Roche's raid on the safety deposit boxes which Zuta had gone to so much trouble to hide away under assumed names.

The investigators believed the evidence the most important uncovered in the years of gang fighting in Chicago. By close study and running down every clew offered in the maze of records, Roche said he hoped to lay the foundation for a real smashing of the gangs that for ten years have placed the city in the limelight with spectacular assassinations and bizarre crime.

SEARCH AMONG COTTAGES ALONG BIG LAKE AREA

MINNESOTA BUREAU OF CRIMINAL APPREHENSION AFTER CLUES IN GANG KILLINGS

BELIEVED HEADQUARTERS OF SLAIN GANG MEMBERS IN THIS SECTION

Stillwater, Minn., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Operatives of the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension today left to search cottages along Big Lake, about 50 miles northwest of here, for the alleged headquarters of three Kansas City gangsters who were assassinated near here Wednesday night.

The men under General W. F. Rhinow, head of the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, spent some time attempting in vain to locate gangsters' lairs on White Bear lake near the scene of the triple shooting which caused the deaths of Harry Silberman, alias Sammy Stein, Frank Coleman and Joe Hagen, alias Rustick. F. F. Mickelson, Big Lake garage man, gave investigators their tip when he said the three dead men and a fourth member who is supposed to have escaped had parked their car in his garage for the past six months.

He said he had asked Silberman how the group had so much money. Mickelson quoted the gangster leader as replying that they were cattlemen who had "cleaned up."

Mickelson said the fourth member of the gang was known as H. Kovel. Oscar Krause, St. Paul salesman, told officers that a coatless man had begged a ride from him near the scene of the shootings shortly after the time set by police for the assassinations. Krause said he stepped on the accelerator without aiding the man, who police believe was Kovel.

Information received here today from St. Cloud, Minn., said Kovel had been a restaurant owner there and was well acquainted with Silberman, who had visited him repeatedly. Silberman, it was reported in St. Cloud, had posed as a prohibition agent.

Kovel was known to have left St. Cloud early this week with his wife for the Twin Cities. Neither has been seen since in St. Cloud. Kovel was believed by police to have taken part in the automobile ride that ended fatally to the three gangsters. He managed, they said, to escape in the fog from the fire of rivals as they sprayed the victims with bullets.

Kovel had purchased an automobile from a Big Lake garage, a search of records there showed investigators. Big Lake is a small town near St. Cloud.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 16.—A St. Cloud "man about town" today was revealed as Harry Silberman, alias Sammy Stein, one of the Midwest's most dangerous gunmen.

As officials at Stillwater held an inquest in the death of Silberman and two of his henchmen near there on Wednesday, state operatives shifted their investigation to the St. Cloud territory in search of new clues.

Operatives were seeking to disclose a possible relationship between Silberman and H. Kovel, St. Cloud restaurant owner, thought to be the fourth man in the death car.

While Midwest police were looking for Silberman on bank robbery and murder charges, he was living the life of a "man about town" in St. Cloud, it was revealed.

Silberman came here nearly two years ago, registered at a leading hotel under his true name and became well known in the city. At times he was suspected of being an undercover prohibition agent.

Police said that he and Kovel were close friends and that Silberman often used Kovel's car. They were attempting to trace Kovel's movements on the day of the triple slaying, but found that he and his wife were out of the city.

A beauty shop operator told police that Silberman had had his hair and mustache dyed at her place while a tailor said he had made Silberman a suit of clothes with a revolver pocket under the arm.

Chief of Police Frank Bettenburg had ordered Silberman arrested on a tip from Kansas City that he was Sammy Stein, the missing gunman. While his men were searching for Silberman, word came from Stillwater that he had been killed.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 16.—Acting on rumors that Al Capone had been seen here, the sheriff's office wired Miami authorities for a description of the gangster. Police said that the description tallied in some points with the man rumored to be Capone, but did not think that he had been here.

ARMY OF RATS IS MARCHING THROUGH OUTER MONGOLIA

Peiping, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—From Harbin, the city of "fall tales," comes the report that an army of rats is marching through outer Mongolia, apparently headed for north Manchuria on its way out from Yinsk, Siberia.

The report states that millions of rats are marching in disciplined fashion under the leadership of different "army corps leaders," and that they seem to know just where they are going. They stop only to gather enough food to sustain them.

HARDLY CHANCE FOR ENTOMBED PRINCETON MINERS

GRIMY, HYSTERICAL MEN STILL ENGAGED IN RESCUE WORK

42 COMRADES IN BLASTED MINE, CHANCE TO SAVE THEM REMOTE

Princeton, B. C., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Grimy, hysterical men, their faces streaked with perspiration, staggered in and out of the shaft of the No. 4 mine of the Coalport collieries today, defying nature and man to make them abandon efforts to rescue 42 entombed comrades.

Inspectors and managers agreed there was hardly a chance that any of the trapped miners would be found alive, but their fellows would not give up. Neither would the families of the men who were lost.

Some of the rescuers have been carried out, half paralyzed. Some have gone mad. But the others would not give up or let themselves be organized into shifts.

Families of the entombed men stood in little groups about the entrance to the shaft, hoping against hope that at least some of the men might be found alive. Three bodies already had been recovered. One man out of 46, Joe Forchella, escaped alive.

GUARD IN STREET THREATENS TO SHOOT DRUGGIST

LATTER TRIED TO LEAVE HIS STORE TO SOUND AN ALARM

BANDITS IN HASTE OVERLOOKED HIDDEN SAFE CONTAINING $8,000

Montello, Wis., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Vigilantes patrolled Wisconsin highways today in search of five bandits who held up the Montello State Bank and escaped with about $4,000 in cash.

The bandits entered the bank late yesterday, forced Cashier Fred Ransom, Assistant Cashier L. W. Shurpitt, Miss Charlene Barry and H. D. Wedde, cashier of the Weynawega bank, to lie on the floor behind the cashier's cage.

While one of their band remained in a car outside the bank and another stood guard at the door, three of the men scooped up the cash. A H. Wetlaufer, a druggist across the street, saw the robbery and attempted to leave his store to summon police. The guard at the door saw him and threatened to "blow his head off" if he did. Leaving as quickly as they came, the bandits fled in their car toward Pardeeville, Wis.

Cashier Ransom said the bandits in their haste overlooked a hidden safe containing $8,000.

JULY TIRE SALES HIGHEST IN YEARS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—Unit sales of tires to dealers during July were the highest in five years and were exceeded by only one previous July in the history of the United States Rubber Company, L. M. Simpson, general sales manager of the Tire Department, announced here today.

Sales so far into August are holding at a comparably high level, and present indications are that the last six months of this year will show a comfortable increase in dealer sales over the same period last year, Mr. Simpson declared.

TAHITI FOUNDERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC TODAY

FEW MEMBERS OF CREW STICK TO SHIP PUMPING DESPERATELY

RESCUE VESSELS SPEED TO AID, FEAR FELT FOR OCCUPANTS OF SMALL BOATS

By SIR MAYNARD HEDSTROM (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—Two hundred men and women, many of them prominent Americans, were adrift in small boats in the south Pacific today, fleeing the foundered steamer Tahiti.

While a few members of the crew remained to pump desperately in a flooded engine room, according to last radio messages from Capt. Totten all passengers and most of the crew were reported ordered to the life boats, as the engine room bulkheads gave way under the swells which have pounded against the vessel's sides for nearly 24 hours.

Though rescue vessels were speeding full steam toward the stricken ship, fears were felt here for many of the occupants of the small boats, almost certain to be adrift for miles over the lonely expanse of water, nearly 500 miles from the nearest settlement of any size.

The Tahiti began shipping water yesterday morning through the gaping hole left by the loss of a propeller. The Tahiti's last position was 460 miles south of Raratonga, South Sea Islands.

The Tahiti is a twin screw liner measuring 460 feet in length and with a beam of 66 feet.

It has a displacement of 13,300 tons; she was formerly the Port Kingston and was built by A. Stephen and Sons, Ltd. of Glasgow in 1904. Her port of registry is London.

Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—While a few members of its crew stayed with the stricken ship, the 100 passengers of the steamer Tahiti took to the life boats at 2:30 A. M. CST. today.

Word that Captain Totten had ordered the vessel cleared was received here by wireless shortly after it was learned that the nearest of the two other vessels steaming full speed ahead to the Tahiti's aid was 12 hours away.

Though ordering the passengers to the small boats, to be inevitably scattered over the South Pacific for miles, was known to be a hazardous move, reports were that Captain Totten feared the bulkheads of the Tahiti would give way before aid arrived.

The vessel has shipped tons of water through the hole left when it lost a propeller. Despite frantic pumping by the crew, the stern-most engine room was flooded soon afterward, and Captain Totten messaged that the bulkheads could not stand the strain.

Captain Totten's last radio read: "Stand by to abandon ship. Engine room bulkheads giving way. SOS!"

Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—The steamer Tahiti, stricken 460 miles off the Cook Island groups was still afloat at 9:30 P. M. (3:30 A. M. CST.) today. Reports reaching here declared it was uncertain how much longer it could stay up. The weather was said to be favorable, but the engine rooms were nearly filled with water let in through the hull from a broken starboard tail shaft.

The vessel Ventura which left Suva for Pago Pago Thursday and was diverted to the Tahiti's assistance was reported 44 hours' distance away.

The Nunualofawards, also diverted, was making nine knots an hour and hoped to increase knots an hour and later. Sixty Fijian laborers aboard the succoring ship were pressed into the hold to aid the overworked stokers.

Latest reports were that the engineers on the Tahiti had hopes of getting the port engine started working by tomorrow morning, if the ship would stay afloat that long.

London, Aug. 16.—An unidentified ship, believed to belong to the Brynmor line, was rushing to the assistance of the crippled steamship Tahiti in the South Pacific today, offices of the Union steamship line here were informed.

The ship was reported 180 miles west of the Tahiti at 8 A. M.

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 16.—The Union Steamship Company's mail steamer, Tahiti, bound from Wellington to San Francisco, asked for assistance today after losing a starboard propeller.

The mail steamers Ventura and Tofua, which were two days away, proceeded immediately to assist the crippled vessel, which indicated that it was not in serious danger.

The Tahiti, with 182 passengers and 140 sailors and officers aboard, was disabled 460 miles southwest of Raratonga. The loss of the propeller permitted water to enter the engine room, radio advices said.

The Tahiti, an Australian passenger liner, had been stopped since 6:45 A. M. Thursday. It sailed from Wellington, N. Z., August 11 and was scheduled to reach Raratonga today. It was built in 1904.

SALOON ADVERTISED FOR SALE, BUT THERE WERE NO BUYERS

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Here in New Jersey, where a speakeasy is still called a saloon, a good one was offered for sale, but it didn't appear such a good buy today.

One might have bought it yesterday for $20,000 down, but Prosecutor F. O. West was watching the place today for evidence of violations—a fact that made it seem much less desirable as a business proposition than when the following advertisement was inserted:

"For Sale—Saloon with property; old people want to retire; doing a $40,000-a-year business; never any liquor difficulties; catering to a select trade; a live wire can clear at least $20,000 yearly. This is one of the outstanding opportunities of a lifetime."

TIE UP BEER LADEN VESSEL NEAR DETROIT

COASTAL STEAMER VEGAS CARRIES CARGO OF 10,000 CASES OF BEER

RUM RUNNERS FAIL TO BEAT NEW CANADIAN LIQUOR EXPORT LAW

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—The coastal steamer Vegas, loaded with 10,000 cases of beer, was tied up at a Canadian dock across from Detroit today, marking, officials said, the failure of the first major effort by rum runners to beat the new Canadian liquor export law.

Capture of the Vegas and its cargo, estimated to be worth at least $100,000, bore out rumors, current here for many months that a "rum row," such as formerly existed off the Atlantic seaboard, would be established on the Great Lakes after enactment of the Canadian export law.

Prior to enactment of this law, Canadian boats were able to take on loads of liquors at nearby ports, clear for the American side and the captains had no worries except the U. S. customs border patrol.

Under the new law, liquor laden ships can clear Canadian ports only for countries where there is no prohibition law, so ships running from Canada to the United States now must dodge both the Canadian and U. S. officers.

Since enactment of the law, there have been persistent rumors on both sides of the river that rum running would be undertaken on an unprecedented scale, with large fast cruisers and steamers clearing the Canadian ports for foreign places, heading into the lakes, and discharging their cargoes to smaller craft, whose owners would assume the task of running through the Canadian and U. S. blockade.

The Vegas was captured because of usual precautions taken by border patrols on account of these rumors. It first was discovered Thursday by the American guards and a fleet of government cruisers was dispatched to form a blockade between middle Sister island and the American shores. Canadian officials also were notified and captured the boat yesterday afternoon without meeting any resistance.

The ship's crew of 26 men was released after the boat was docked and no arrests were made pending instructions from the Canadian government at Ottawa.

Men who made the capture said that when they drew alongside the Vegas, a dozen smaller craft scattered in all directions.

SHOOTS DOWN WOMAN IN FAMILY GROUP IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—While a family group was welcoming a daughter who had just returned from California, Harry P. Manville last night fatally shot the woman and then killed himself.

The victim was Mrs. Ruby Shepherd, 32, who had arrived only a short time before the shooting to visit her mother, Mrs. Frances Manville. Mrs. Shepherd was accompanied by her son, Robert, 13.

Apparently the step-father of the young woman had been crazed by liquor, police said. According to the information given them the man fired at his step-daughter, then fired three shots at his wife, all of them missing their goal, and then shot himself.

Mrs. Shepherd is survived by her husband who is in Los Angeles and her son; Daniel Comp-ton, a brother, and Mrs. A. M. Ly-sied, a sister, both of Minneapolis.

F. F. Mickelson, Big Lake garage man, gave investigators their tip when he said the three dead men and a fourth member who is supposed to have escaped had parked their car in his garage for the past six months.

He said he had asked Silberman how the group had so much money. Mickelson quoted the gangster leader as replying that they were cattlemen who had "cleaned up."

Mickelson said the fourth member of the gang was known as H. Kovel. Oscar Krause, St. Paul salesman, told officers that a countless man had begged a ride from him near the scene of the shootings shortly after the time set by police for the assassinations. Krause said he stepped on the accelerator without aiding the man, who police believe was Kovel.

Information received here today from St. Cloud, Minn., said Kovel had been a restaurant owner there and was well acquainted with Silberman, who had visited him repeatedly. Silberman, it was reported in St. Cloud, had posed as a prohibition agent.

Kovel was known to have left St. Cloud early this week with his wife for the Twin Cities. Neither has been seen since in St. Cloud. Kovel was believed by police to have taken part in the automobile ride that ended fatally to the three gangsters. He managed, they said, to escape in the fog from the fire of rivals as they sprayed the victims with bullets.

Kovel had purchased an automobile from a Big Lake garage, a search of records there showed investigators. Big Lake is a small town near St. Cloud.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 16.—A St. Cloud "man about town" today was revealed as Harry Silberman, alias Sammy Stein, one of the midwest's most dangerous gunmen.

As officials at Stillwater held an inquest in the death of Silberman and two of his henchmen near there on Wednesday, state operatives shifted their investigation to the St. Cloud territory in search of new clues.

Operatives were seeking to disclose a possible relationship between Silberman and H. Kovel, St. Cloud restaurant owner, thought to be the fourth man in the death car.

While midwest police were looking for Silberman on bank robbery and murder charges, he was living the life of a "man about town" in St. Cloud, it was revealed.

Silberman came here nearly two years ago, registered at a leading hotel under his true name and became well known in the city. At times he was suspected of being an undercover prohibition agent.

Police said that he and Kovel were close friends and that Silberman often used Kovel's car. They were attempting to trace Kovel's movements on the day of the triple slaying, but found that he and his wife were out of the city.

A beauty shop operator told police that Silberman had had his hair and mustache dyed at her place while a tailor said he had made Silberman a suit of clothes with a revolver pocket under the arm.

Chief of Police Frank Bettenburg had ordered Silberman arrested on a tip from Kansas City that he was Sammy Stein, the missing gunman. While his men were searching for Silberman, word came from Stillwater that he had been killed.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 16.—Acting on rumors that Al Capone had been seen here, the sheriff's office wired Miami authorities for a description of the gangster. Police said that the description tallied in some points with the man rumored to be Capone, but did not think that he had been here.

ARMY OF RATS IS MARCHING THROUGH OUTER MONGOLIA

Peiping, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—From Harbin, the city of "fall tales," comes the report that an army of rats is marching through outer Mongolia, apparently headed for north Manchuria on its way out from Yinsk, Siberia.

The report states that millions of rats are marching in disciplined fashion under the leadership of different "army corps leaders," and that they seem to know just where they are going. They stop only to gather enough food to sustain them.

HARDLY CHANCE FOR ENTOMBED PRINCETON MINERS

GRIMY, HYSTERICAL MEN STILL ENGAGED IN RESCUE WORK

42 COMRADES IN BLASTED MINE, CHANCE TO SAVE THEM REMOTE

Princeton, B. C., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Grimy, hysterical men, their faces streaked with perspiration, staggered in and out of the shaft of the No. 4 mine of the Comhalt collieries today, defying nature and man to make them abandon efforts to rescue 42 entombed comrades.

Inspectors and managers agreed there was hardly a chance that any of the trapped miners would be found alive, but their fellows would not give up. Neither would the families of the men who were lost.

Some of the rescuers have been carried out, half paralyzed. Some have gone mad. But the others would not give up or let themselves be organized into shifts.

Families of the entombed men stood in little groups about the entrance to the shaft, hoping against hope that at least some of the men might be found alive. Three bodies already had been recovered. One man out of 46, Joe Forchella, escaped alive.

SALOON ADVERTISED FOR SALE, BUT THERE WERE NO BUYERS

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Here in New Jersey, where a speakeasy is still called a saloon, a good one was offered for sale, but it didn't appear such a good buy today.

One might have bought it yesterday for $20,000 down, but Prosecutor F. O. West was watching the place today for evidence of violations—a fact that made it seem much less desirable as a business proposition than when the following advertisement was inserted:

"For Sale—Saloon with property; old people want to retire; doing a $40,000-a-year business; never any liquor difficulties; catering to a select trade; a live wire can clear at least $20,000 yearly. This is one of the outstanding opportunities of a lifetime."

TIE UP BEER LADEN VESSEL NEAR DETROIT

RUM RUNNERS FAIL TO BEAT NEW CANADIAN LIQUOR EXPORT LAW

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—The coastal steamer Vegas, loaded with 10,000 cases of beer, was tied up at a Canadian dock across from Detroit today, marking, officials said, the failure of the first major effort by rum runners to beat the new Canadian liquor export law.

Capture of the Vegas and its cargo, estimated to be worth at least $100,000, bore out rumors current here for many months that a "rum row," such as formerly existed off the Atlantic seaboard, would be established on the Great Lakes after enactment of the Canadian export law.

Prior to enactment of this law, Canadian boats were able to take on loads of liquor at nearby ports, clear for the American side and the captains had no worries except the U. S. customs border patrol.

Under the new law, liquor laden ships can clear Canadian ports only for countries where there is no prohibition law, so ships running from Canada to the United States now must dodge both the Canadian and U. S. officers.

Since enactment of the law, there have been persistent rumors on both sides of the river that rum running would be undertaken on an unprecedented scale, with large fast cruisers and steamers clearing the Canadian ports for foreign places, heading into the lakes, and discharging their cargoes to smaller craft, whose owners would assume the task of running through the Canadian and U. S. blockade.

The Vegas was captured because of usual precautions taken by border patrols on account of these rumors. It first was discovered Thursday by the American guards and a fleet of government cruisers was dispatched to form a blockade between middle Sister island and the American shores. Canadian officials also were notified and captured the boat yesterday afternoon without meeting any resistance.

The ship's crew of 26 men was released after the boat was docked and no arrests were made pending instructions from the Canadian government at Ottawa.

Men who made the capture said that when they drew alongside the Vegas, a dozen smaller craft scattered in all directions.

SHOOT DOWN WOMAN IN FAMILY GROUP IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—While a family group was welcoming a daughter who had just returned from California, Harry P. Manville last night fatally shot the woman and then killed himself.

The victim was Mrs. Ruby Shepherd, 32, who had arrived only a short time before the shooting to visit her mother, Mrs. Frances Manville. Mrs. Shepherd was accompanied by her son, Robert, 13.

Apparently the step-father of the young woman had been crazed by liquor, police said. According to the information given them the man fired at his step-daughter, then fired three shots at his wife, all of them missing their goal, and then shot himself.

Mrs. Shepherd is survived by her husband who is in Los Angeles and her son; Daniel Compton, a brother, and Mrs. A. M. Lysted, a sister, both of Minneapolis.

TAHITI FOUNDERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC TODAY

FEW MEMBERS OF CREW STICK TO SHIP PUMPING DESPERATELY

RESCUE VESSELS SPEED TO AID, FEAR FELT FOR OCCUPANTS OF SMALL BOATS

By SIR MAYNARD HEDSTROM (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—Two hundred men and women, many of them prominent Americans, were adrift in small boats in the south Pacific today, fleeing the foundered steamer Tahiti.

While a few members of the crew remained to pump desperately in a flooded engine room, according to last radio messages from Capt. Totten, all passengers and most of the crew were reported ordered to the life boats, as the engine room bulkheads gave way under the swells which have pounded against the vessel's sides for nearly 24 hours.

Though rescue vessels were speeding full steam toward the stricken ship, fears were felt here for many of the occupants of the small boats, almost certain to be adrift for miles over the lonely expanse of water, nearly 500 miles from the nearest settlement of any size.

The Tahiti began shipping water yesterday morning through the gaping hole left by the loss of a propeller. The Tahiti's last position was 460 miles south of Rarotonga, South Sea Islands.

The Tahiti is a twin screw liner measuring 460 feet in length and with a beam of 66 feet.

It has a displacement of 13,300 tons; she was formerly the Port Kingston and was built by A. Stephen and Sons, Ltd. of Glasgow in 1904. Her port of registry is London.

Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—While a few members of its crew stayed with the stricken ship, the 100 passengers of the steamer Tahiti took to the life boats at 2:30 A. M. CST. today.

Word that Captain Totten had ordered the vessel cleared was received here by wireless shortly after it was learned that the nearest of the two other vessels steaming full speed ahead to the Tahiti's aid was 12 hours away.

Though ordering the passengers to the small boats, to be inevitably scattered over the South Pacific for miles, was known to be a hazardous move, reports were that Captain Totten feared the bulkheads of the Tahiti would give way before aid arrived.

The vessel has shipped tons of water through the hole left when it lost a propeller. Despite frantic pumping by the crew, the stern-most engine room was flooded soon afterward, and Captain Totten messaged that the bulkheads could not stand the strain.

Captain Totten's last radio read: "Stand by to abandon ship. Engine room bulkheads giving way. SOS!"

Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 16.—The steamer Tahiti, stricken 460 miles off the Cook Island groups was still afloat at 9:30 P. M. (3:30 A. M. CST.) today. Reports reaching here declared it was uncertain how much longer it could stay up. The weather was said to be favorable, but the engine rooms were nearly filled with water let in through the hull from a broken starboard tail shaft.

The vessel Ventura which left Suva for Pago Pago Thursday and was diverted to the Tahiti's assistance was reported 44 hours' distance away.

The Nunualofawards, also diverted, was making nine knots an hour and hoped to increase the speed to 14 or 15 later. Sixty Fijian laborers aboard the succoring ship were pressed into the hold to aid the overworked stokers.

Latest reports were that the engineers on the Tahiti had hopes of getting the port engine started working by tomorrow morning, if the ship would stay afloat that long.

London, Aug. 16.—An unidentified ship, believed to belong to the Brynmor line, was rushing to the assistance of the crippled steamship Tahiti in the South Pacific today, offices of the Union steamship line here were informed.

The ship was reported 180 miles west of the Tahiti at 8 A. M.

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 16.—The Union Steamship Company's mail steamer, Tahiti, bound from Wellington to San Francisco, asked for assistance today after losing a starboard propeller.

The mail steamer Ventura and Tofua, which were two days away, proceeded immediately to assist the crippled vessel, which indicated that it was not in serious danger.

The Tahiti, with 182 passengers and 140 sailors and officers aboard, was disabled 460 miles southwest of Rarotonga. The loss of the propeller permitted water to enter the engine room, radio advices said.

The Tahiti, an Australian passenger liner, had been stopped since 6:45 A. M. Thursday. It sailed from Wellington, N. Z., August 11 and was scheduled to reach Rarotonga today. It was built in 1904.

Harvesting, he says, is more advanced at Portal, on the Canadian line than around here, but the Red River Valley is in bad shape because of the last storm, everything being covered with water, and the grain is all ready to harvest now. ## BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

August 16, 1930

M. H. Rock, the brakeman, who last spring was arrested charged for forgery was yesterday released on bail, some friends from Staples having come to his rescue. Rock was given a preliminary hearing and was held to the grand jury, but the next term of court will not be held until next December and he has been in jail several months now. He is charged with having raised a check from 24 cents to $24 and cashed the same at the John Wise saloon on the corner of Fifth and Laurel streets.

Yesterday afternoon there was a special meeting of the ladies auxiliary of the A. O. H. in their hall when a class of ten was initiated. On last Wednesday evening a class of 13 was initiated. Mrs. M. J. Reilly, state vice president, had charge of the work which was very pleasing and interesting.

There was a hearing on this afternoon before Judge J. H. Warner in the case of the state against Joyn Corrigan, charging with assault. Mike Remmels is the complaining witness and the testimony went to show that when Corrigan was trying to collect towns in that portion of the country are booming and everything is prosperous. He thinks Minot a wonderful little business center. Harvesting, he says, is more advanced at Portal, on the Canadian line than around here, but the Red River Valley is in bad shape because of the last storm, everything being covered with water, and the grain is all ready to harvest now. He doubts if machines can go on the land for ten days.

Bandit Gangs May Have Seized Kanchow, China

Washington, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Possibility that Kanchow, China, where many Americans are living, may have fallen prey to bandit gangs, was seen in reports received by the state department today saying all communications sent to Kanchow from Shanghai in the last few days had gone unanswered. Reports were described as "disturbing."

Emerson in the Pulpit

Ralph Waldo Emerson was assistant and pastor in the Second Unitarian church, in Boston, 1829-32. He arrived at the conviction that the Last Supper was not intended by Christ to be a permanent sacrament, and retired. He never had charge of an other parish, but he preached as opportunity offered until 1847.

Public Is Aroused

DEFYING public sentiment, with utter disregard for the laws and human life, bank banditry continues to flourish in the Northwest, and to such an extent that despite drastic efforts being made to counteract its progress, insurance companies have more than trebled their rates to banks in this area for protection against bandit robbery, says the Commercial West.

But public sentiment is aroused against bank banditry and the public is something bank bandits cannot buck successfully. Witness the hanging at Kansas City recently of two bandits who robbed a bank and murdered a policeman, and the shooting to death of two more bank bandits at Glencross, South Dakota, when they robbed the State Bank of that city—plucky work, by the way, on the part of Cashier P. J. Schirber of the Glencross bank, who riddled the robbers with shotgun slugs, and on the part of his wife who was victim of the holdup.

A few more doses of this kind of medicine for bank raiders should serve as a wholesome deterrent upon the outbreak that has marked recent weeks in the Northwest.

Meanwhile the state bankers' organizations of the Northwest are taking active steps to encourage protective measures against raiders. Sheriffs have taken up the battle and are organizing and equipping posses. Communities are making their own plans for protection and apprehension, not only in the matter of arming peace officers and citizens, but some have gone further and are posting rewards for the capture of bandits. Most of the bankers' associations have also posted rewards.

This is a healthful trend of the public mind. It should lead to the enactment of laws at forthcoming sessions of our various legislatures providing for the establishment of state constabularies. Such bodies, well armed, well equipped and well drilled are the only real answer to the depredations of bank bandits or any other outlaws. It is quite patent that our present policing system, though doing everything in its power, is inadequate nevertheless and the outbreak of banditry that has flared up with such intensity recently needs some such strong arm of the law as a state constabulary to insure its subjugation.

Our War Bill

WHEN we got shut of the Civil war we were pretty well fed up on fighting, and heavily in debt, says the Detroit News. But in 1898 we had paid most of the Civil war bill, and we took on a war with Spain, which gained us a lot of expensive obligations in Porto Rico and the Philippines, and another handsome bill in debt and pensions. Nineteen years later we leaped into the European conflict, out of which we got nothing but an enormous debt increase and another bill for care of the former service men.

Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington has figured up our war bill for this year. Our annual payment for past wars, present defense and future wars amounts to the tidy total of $2,831,825,962, or 70 per cent of our entire appropriations excluding that part of the postal appropriation that is earned by postoffice revenues. If it were not for wars past and future, the national bill to the taxpayers would be about $1,200,000,000 instead of $4,000,000,000—$10 apiece instead of $33.

If we could only see where we have gained anything by this prodigal outlay in the past, or anything we are likely to gain by the money we are going to throw into cruisers and submarines and airplane carriers and ordnance in the future, we might feel better about this enormous bill. As it is, we can only read in it the folly of our leaders and the ineptitude of those who argue that arming to the teeth is "insurance" against calamity that such insurance has never failed to hasten—with an aftermath of huge penalties after the "insurance" has been proved futile.

Courtesy

JOAN WING, said to be the only woman doctor of courtesy in the world, has departed for Europe, there to observe the courteous ways of the continentals, says the Toledo Blade editorially. She purposes to recommend and teach these ways to Americans.

Note that she says courtesy, and not etiquette, too often confused with it. Courtesy is fundamentally the same the world over. It is simple civility, respect, good breeding, thoughtfulness, as differentiated from the peculiar and sometimes pompous demands of local etiquette, which may require the removal of one's shoes at the door of a Japanese home, dress of stipulated style and observance of solemn formalities in the king's court in England, a handshake with the president and rubbing noses in the orient. Etiquette has to be learned. Courtesy may be innate, inborn.

It has been said that "life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy." The philosopher did not refer to obsequiousness or mere formality. He meant that fine sense "which transforms aliens into friends and gives its owner passport round the globe."

Concrete Pavements

TOTAL awards for concrete pavements for this year in the United States passed the 100,000,000 square yard mark August 2, according to Wm. M. Kinney, general manager of the Portland Cement Association. This mark was reached three weeks ahead of last year and the total was greater than that of any previous year. Mr. Kinney declares that this is in response to the urgent need for more motoring space and that it expresses confidence in American economic conditions.

Of the total awards 77,700,000 square yards are for concrete roads, and 23,000,000 square yards for streets and alleys. August 2 of last year concrete road awards totalled 62,190,000 square yards and in the record year of 1928, 62,400,000 square yards. The 1930 road total of this date, is therefore, over 15,000,000 square yards ahead of last year and the record breaking year of 1928.

CHICAGO gangdom is sending out feelers and rapidly nearing a national organization.

This is evidenced by the gangster killing of three near St. Paul.

Evidently somebody has been "muscling in" on the liquor trade of the Chicago gangsters and the killings followed.

Chicago papers appear to have had news tips as to a storm brewing in the Minnesota territory actually before the slayings occurred and while Minnesota authorities were even disputing the mere presence of any gangsters.

RADIO SETS IMPROVE AS PRICES GO DOWN

American mass production methods not only improve and simplify products, but also lowers costs and reduce prices paid by the consumer.

Consider the radio industry, for example. There is no comparison between radio receivers of today and those of ten years ago. The tiny headphone sets using "peanut" tubes, have given place to fine receivers which will fill a large room with music reproduced just as it is played at the broadcasting station. Yet these fine, modern radios are in many instances lower in price than their discarded predecessors.

Mass Production Has Helped

Quantity production is undoubtedly the most important factor in this bettering of quality and reduction of cost. Constant improvement in design, however, has played a large part. Details of mechanical construction are carefully studied to find simpler ways to build receivers and to make them more rugged and efficient in operation. Simplicity, it has been found, is often the keynote of superior performance.

One might think that it would be impossible to apply line production methods to radio construction on the same scale that they are applied in other industries, because of the rapid developments necessitating constant change in radio receiver construction. Actually, however, the revolutionary changes in radio have influenced methods of manufacture but very little.

The operations of building a radio receiver have been carefully studied and reduced to simple, standard procedures. The same fundamental methods are involved in the construction of any receiver, the chief difference being the sequence in which they come and the number of individual operations and parts involved.

Thanks to a large volume of business and mass production methods, the radio industry has taken giant strides in improving the quality and performance of receiving sets while actually reducing the prices paid by the public. This is almost an industrial miracle and the consumer has been the chief beneficiary.

Children's Growth

A Swedish physiologist, Dr. Gustav Nylén, says that children grow most rapidly in height in the spring and put on weight fastest in the late fall and in the winter.

CORN FAILS, SO MARION TALLEY MAY RETURN TO OPERA

Marion Talley (right), the youthful soprano who deserted grand opera to manage her Kansas farm, is grieved because the heat ruined her corn crop. Just for that she may go back to the opera stage, she admitted upon arrival in Chicago, where this photograph was taken. With her in the picture is her sister, Florence, left.

Defects in Indian Music

Of indigenous music there could be only that of the Indian, writes Gailard Hunt in "Life in America One Hundred Years Ago." The white man liked to learn many things from him, especially his woodcraft and some of his methods of fighting, but never cared to learn his music. In fact, the total method was so different that it was not music at all to white ears.

WALTER HAGEN SCORES 145 IN QUALIFYING ROUND, ST. PAUL

ADDS 73 TO HIS PAR RECORD OF YESTERDAY

ST. PAUL $10,000 OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT IN SECOND DAY'S PLAY

MOST OF STAR PROFESSIONALS DID NOT TEE OFF UNTIL THIS AFTERNOON

By HILLIER KRIEGHEBAUM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 16.—Walter Hagen, Detroit, added a 73 to his par record yesterday for an aggregate of 145 for the qualifying rounds of the St. Paul $10,000 open golf tournament.

Hagen's score was made with 35, one under par, for the first nine and 38, two over par, for the second nine. Hagen experienced considerable difficulty in the final nine holes of the round.

Tomorrow the best 64 scorers and ties will play a final competition of 36 holes.

Joe Kirkwood, New York, was one over par, with a 63 to add to his 75 of yesterday for a total of 148.

Tony Manero, New York professional, took the early afternoon lead when he turned in a 70 to add to his 69 of yesterday for an aggregate of 139.

Most of the star professionals did not tee off until this afternoon when the opening threesome did not start until 10 A. M. The reverse order today also threw most of the leading stars into the later half of the rounds.

Horton Smith, brilliant New York pro, was one of the last players to tee off today.

"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, who shot a par 72 yesterday, cracked on his second round and turned in an 80 for a 36-hole total of 152.

"GRAND OLD MAN OF MIDWAY" IS CONGRATULATED

"FIT AS A FIDDLE, I FEEL AS GOOD AS I EVER DID," HE SAID

NO IDEA OF RETIRING, GOOD FOR 30 YEARS MORE, SAYS VETERAN

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Amos Alonzo Stagg, "the grand old man of the midway," today celebrated his 68th birthday at his home near the University of Chicago, where he has served as director of athletics since the school was founded in 1892.

"Yes, I'm 68 years young today and fit as a fiddle," Stagg told the United Press. "I feel as good as I ever did and haven't even thought of retiring. Don't be surprised if you have to come down and ask me that same question 30 years from now. I intend to continue as athletic director and football coach at Chicago as long as I'm in good physical condition and I think that will be quite a long time."

Then to prove his physical fitness, the veteran coach went out on the tennis court and played his daily game against his youngest son, Paul, Chicago University quarterback.

A. A. Stagg, Jr., a member of the Chicago coaching staff, umpired the game and later had a chance to try his skill against the "old man," who still is able to hold his own against the younger members of the family.

"I don't object to this 'old man' talk, but it's all rather foolish," said Stagg. "Years have little to do with a man being old. A man becomes old when he is physically unfit."

"The body is a machine and you must understand your machine to keep young. I understand mine and don't abuse it with tobacco, alcohol, caffeine or other poisons and I exercise to keep the machine functioning properly. In that way I avoid sickness. I never have so much as a headache."

"Good mental balance is another important factor in health. Don't worry, don't fret, keep your nerves composed and you'll profit in health vitality."

Stagg, the oldest active college athletic coach in America, was born on Aug. 16, 1862 and spent the early years of his life at West Orange, N. J. He entered Yale in 1884 and pitched the Blue to five successive baseball championships. Although famous chiefly as a baseball player, he was capable enough on the gridiron to win a place at end on Walter Camp's 1889 All-American team.

Football always has been his favorite sport and in his career as a coach he has seen his "pet" game advance from a scarcely tolerated sport to America's most popular game.

Stagg was a leader in the organization of the western conference and always has been a crusader to keep amateur athletics on a high plane. He takes special pride in the fact that the famous Carnegie Foundation "bulletin 23," issued last year, named Chicago as one of the few schools handling athletes without proselytizing.

CHICAGO CUBS HAVE CHANCE TO INCREASE LEAD

OPEN SERIES OF GAMES TODAY WITH THE PHILADELPHIA CLUB

BROOKLYN ROBINS SLATED TO MEET THE TOUGH PITTSBURGH PIRATES

(By United Press)

The Chicago Cubs were faced with a fine opportunity to increase their lead in the National League today when they opened a series with the Phillies. While the Cubs were taking on the cellar holders in a double-header, the Brooklyn Robins met the tough Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants continued their series with Cincinnati.

The Cubs moved two full games out in front Friday when they defeated the Robins 4 to 3 after 10 innings. It was the third defeat of the series for Brooklyn.

Carl Hubbell allowed but four singles as the Giants blanked Cincinnati 5 to 0. The win placed the Giants but one and one-half games back of Brooklyn.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia divided a double bill, the Pirates taking the second game 3 to 2 in ten innings after dropping the first, 7 to 5. Fred Brickett, one time Pirate, scored three runs and got three hits, one a triple, in the first game.

The St. Louis Cards made it three out of four over the Boston Braves by winning the fourth game of the series, 8 to 4.

All American League games were rained out.

No American Association games were scheduled.

PENNEYS DROP DOWN RIVER CHAMPIONS

CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS DOWN LITTLE FALLS TEAM WITH BARRAGE OF HOMERS, 12-5

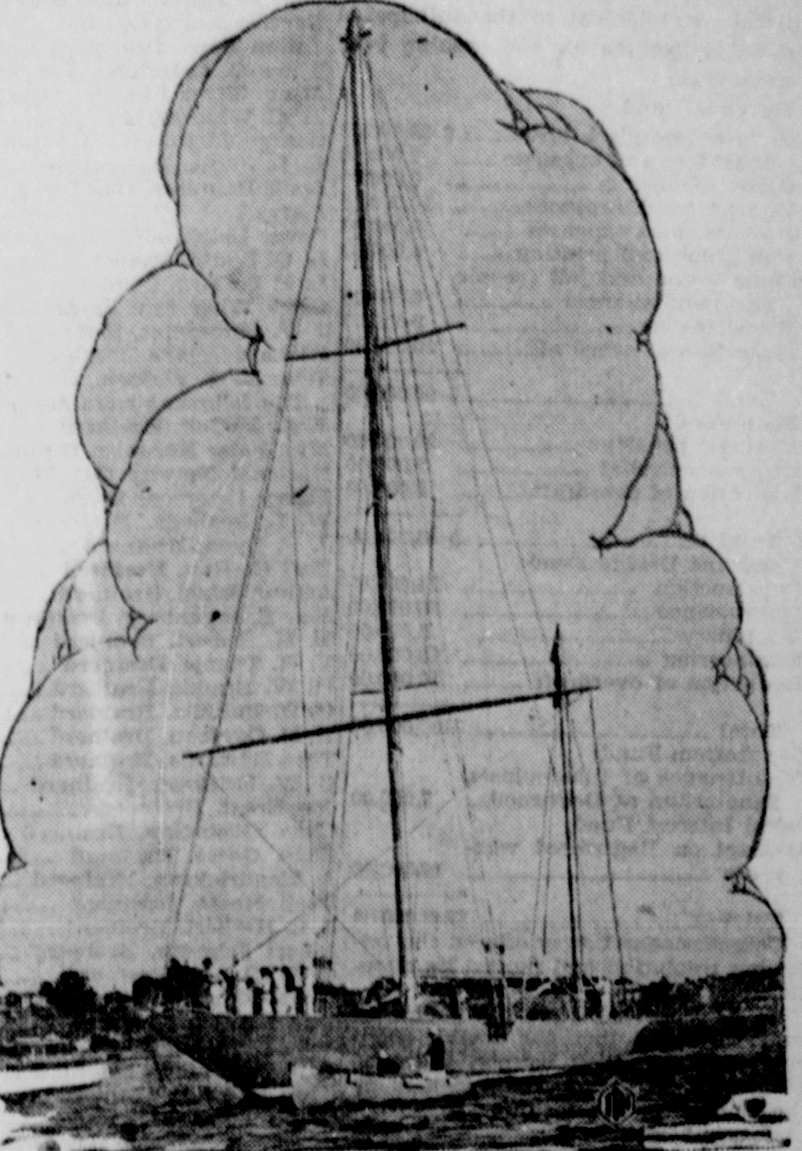

The J. C. Penney kittenball team, city league champions, were easy victors over the Little Falls Power and Light team, city champions of Little Falls, in their game Thursday night at Fort Ripley, Pennes winning 12-5.

The Little Falls batsmen had difficulty in solving the offerings of Foster, on the mound for Pennes. At the same time "murderers' row" from Pennes were connecting solidly with the balls served up to the plate by the down-river pitcher.

Pennes collected eight home runs during the contest, three of them being scored by three successive batsmen in the final stanza. Pennes were batting in the final inning when darkness descended or the barrage of home runs might have been still greater.

Look Out, Uncle Sam!

By HARDIN BURNLEY

THE athletic world will focus its eyes on Hamilton, Ontario, today, where the start of British Empire games will feature many stars from England and ten of John Bull's colonies. Especial American attention will be devoted to that event because it will serve as a preliminary to an international dual meet with the United States to be held at Chicago, Aug. 27-28.

From the hundreds of athletes who compete in the Empire games all next week, 60 will be chosen to contest with an equal number of United States stars in the first important international meet since the 1923 Olympics.

Though the "little Olympics" will be held in Uncle Sam's vast Soldiers' Stadium, it will be conducted under the so-called English "relay" rules. That is, every race will be a relay, and the total team yardage in a given field event will determine a British or American victory. That team scoring method is fair to both nations. Strangely enough, no Empire track team has yet won a meet conducted under its own favored scoring system!

Canada—with Percy Williams, Leigh Miller and Johnny Fitzpatrick in the sprints—Phil Edwards (formerly of New York University), Jimmy Ball and a dozen other fliers in the middle distance events; Eddie King, the Walters brothers, and "Cop" Art Keay (a Toronto policeman) in the mile—is expected to shade even the mile, which will enter a mighty team, featuring such famed winners as Douglas Lowe, Lord David Burghley, and a score of youthful comers.

I intend to continue as athletic director and football coach at Chicago as long as I'm in good physical condition and I think that will be quite a long time."

Then to prove his physical fitness, the veteran coach went out on the tennis court and played his daily game against his youngest son, Paul, Chicago University quarterback.

A. A. Stagg, Jr., a member of the Chicago coaching staff, umpired the game and later had a chance to try his skill against the "old man," who still is able to hold his own against the younger members of the family.

"I don't object to this 'old man' talk, but it's all rather foolish," said Stagg. "Years have little to do with a man being old. A man becomes old when he is physically unfit."

"The body is a machine and you must understand your machine to keep young. I understand mine and don't abuse it with tobacco, alcohol, caffeine or other poisons and I exercise to keep the machine functioning properly. In that way I avoid sickness. I never have so much as a headache."

"Good mental balance is another important factor in health. Don't worry, don't fret, keep your nerves composed and you'll profit in health vitality."

Stagg, the oldest active college athletic coach in America, was born on Aug. 16, 1862 and spent the early years of his life at West Orange, N. J. He entered Yale in 1884 and pitched the Blue to five successive baseball championships. Although famous chiefly as a baseball player, he was capable enough on the gridiron to win a place at end on Walter Camp's 1889 All-American team.

Football always has been his favorite sport and in his career as a coach he has seen his "pet" game advance from a scarcely tolerated sport to America's most popular game.

Stagg was a leader in the organization of the western conference and always has been a crusader to keep amateur athletics on a high plane. He takes special pride in the fact that the famous Carnegie Foundation "bulletin 23," issued last year, named Chicago as one of the few schools handling athletes without proselytizing.

CHICAGO CUBS HAVE CHANCE TO INCREASE LEAD

OPEN SERIES OF GAMES TODAY WITH THE PHILADELPHIA CLUB

BROOKLYN ROBINS SLATED TO MEET THE TOUGH PITTSBURGH PIRATES (By United Press)

The Chicago Cubs were faced with a fine opportunity to increase their lead in the National League today when they opened a series with the Phillies. While the Cubs were taking on the cellar holders in a double-header, the Brooklyn Robins met the tough Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants continued their series with Cincinnati.

The Cubs moved two full games out in front Friday when they defeated the Robins 4 to 3 after 10 innings. It was the third defeat of the series for Brooklyn.

Carl Hubbell allowed but four singles as the Giants blanked Cincinnati 5 to 0. The win placed the Giants but one and one-half games back of Brooklyn.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia divided a double bill, the Pirates taking the second game 3 to 2 in ten innings after dropping the first, 7 to 5. Fred Brice, one time Pirate, scored three runs and got three hits, one a triple, in the first game.

The St. Louis Cards made it three out of four over the Boston Braves by winning the fourth game of the series, 5 to 4.

All American League games were rained out.

No American Association games were scheduled.

JACK SHARKEY AND CAMPOLO TO MEET ON SEPTEMBER 25

New York, Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Jack Sharkey and Vittorio Campolo will meet in a 15-round bout in Yankee stadium September 25, Madison Square Garden corporation officials announced yesterday.

It was understood that Sharkey was assured his purse would not be less than $100,000. Garden officials said the winner of the bout would be matched with Young Stribling at Miami in February.

PENNEYS DROP DOWN RIVER CHAMPIONS

CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS DOWN LITTLE FALLS TEAM WITH BARRAGE OF HOMERS, 12-5

The J. C. Penney Kittenball team, city league champions, were easy victors over the Little Falls Power and Light team, city champions of Little Falls, in their game Thursday night at Fort Ripley, Pennes winning 12-5.

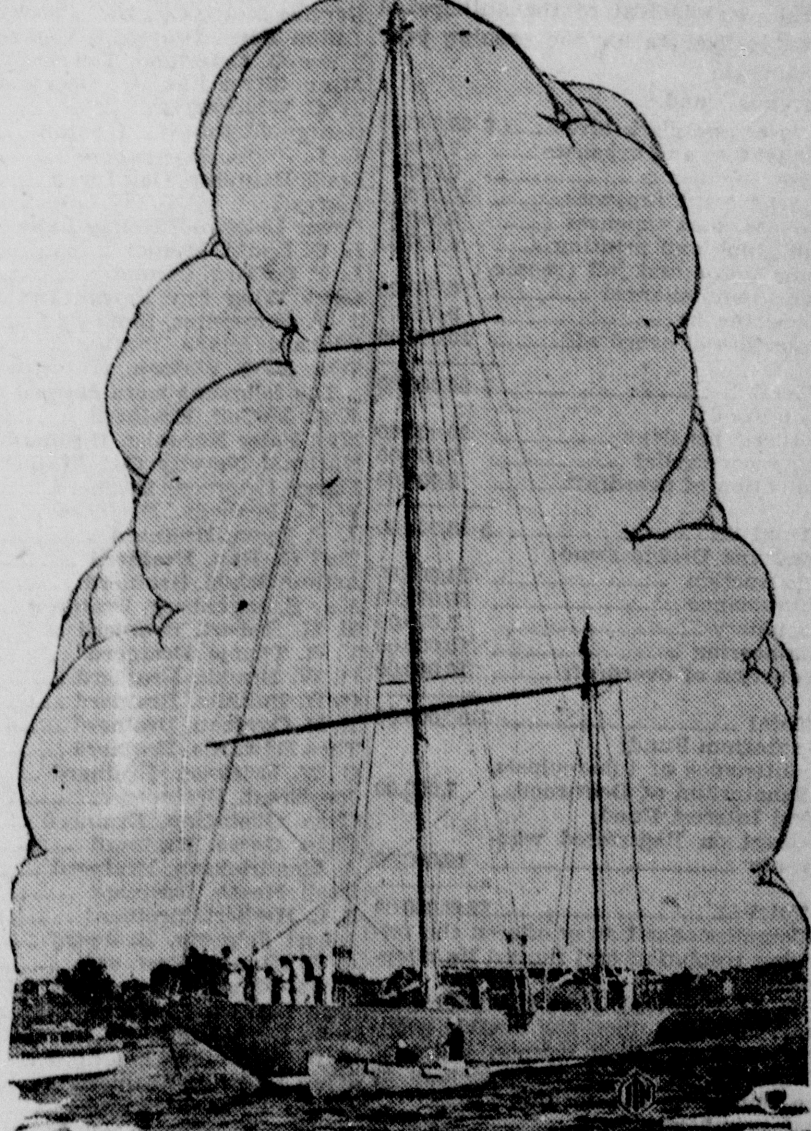

The Little Falls batsmen had difficulty in solving the offerings of Foster, on the mound for Pennes. At the same time "murderers" row" from Pennes were connecting solidly with the balls served up to the plate by the down-river pitcher.

Pennes collected eight home runs during the contest, three of them being scored by three successive batsmen in the final stanza. Pennes were batting in the final inning when darkness descended or the barrage of home runs might have been still greater.

GUNS PLACED IN STORES TO THWART HOLDUP MEN

New System of Protection From Bandits Instituted in Downtown Brainerd
EXPERTS TO MAN GUNS

General Alarm to be Spread in Emergency; Banks Reduce Cash on Hand

The city of Brainerd has armed itself against any invasion of bandits by the placing of shotguns at points of advantage in the business section. These guns are under the supervision of the Brainerd Police department and the County Sheriff's department and will be manned in any emergency by men deadly in aim. The operation of the new system will be that of a rapid alarm in spreading of information regarding a holdup even while it is being perpetrated.

By this way banks of the city will receive even more protection than the recent addition of two plainclothes men in the downtown section.

Banks of the city carried notices in their establishments today to the effect that for protection from bandits that cash on hand will be reduced to the lowest working point and that any larger requirement should be arranged for in advance. This policy is advocated by the Minnesota Bankers Association and is in force in the majority of banks of the state outside the Twin Cities.

Band to Picnic
The Brainerd ladies band will be entertained tomorrow by Miss Jettie Oien and Miss Marie Hoffbauer at the Hoffbauer summer home on North Round Lake. A luncheon will be served and the afternoon spent in swimming and boating.

LIFE THREATENED BY AN ANONYMOUS LETTER RECEIVED

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—His life threatened by an anonymous letter writer, Dist. Atty. Herman R. Slen continued his investigation today of the Jack Zuta gangland murder near here two weeks ago.

"We just ask you to please lay off this Zuta case if you think anything of your home and family. You and everyone else knows what Price got," the letter read in part.

The handwriting was almost unrecognizable and the letter was mailed in Milwaukee.

"I have noticed," the district attorney said, "that these gangsters don't bother to warn their victims. They just walk in and shoot you."

OAK LAWN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander were recent callers at the Dan Peterson home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Aspholm and son, Melvin Peterson, Tom Peterson and Anton Dullum of Starbuck visited at the Herman Dullum home near Gull Lake recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Norton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and daughters visited at the Joe Bellevue home at Long Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hyde of Minneapolis and Orise Carlson were supper guests at the Miller home Wednesday evening. Mrs. Hyde is a sister of Mr. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wickert and daughter Marion of Canton, Minn., were visitors at the Roy Norton home Sunday. Mrs. Wickert is a sister of Mr. Norton. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nesheim and children were also Sunday dinner guests there.

Miss Dorothy Adam and Miss Florence Miller motored to Riverton Friday.

The Misses Barbara Friedsam, Maggie Peterson, Ingo Nelson, Ruby Miller and Mrs. Gordon called at the Miller home Sunday.

Dan Peterson had the misfortune of getting another cow in the ditch and spent most of the night getting her out.

U. S. Geological Survey Resumes Its Work Again

Washington.—With the arrival of spring the United States geological survey has resumed field operations. Some 250 parties, ranging in size from one geologist to surveying groups of six or seven men, will be dispatched from Washington within the next month.

This year economies in transportation are being affected through concentrating the geological survey's fleet of automobiles near headquarters. Already 30 cars loaded with engineers and instruments have left Washington bound for Kentucky, Virginia, New York and other nearby states.

Preparing for the season's research, the division of field equipment of the geological survey is one of the busiest units in the government service at this time of the year.

Here the instruments of geologists and engineers, some of them worth several thousand dollars apiece, are undergoing repairs. A 17 jewel watch is like a mechanical toy to some of these instruments, adjustments of which are often computed in millionths of an inch.

Sailors' Bodies Brought Home

The Department of the Navy says that there have been few burials at sea during recent years. All large ships are supplied with apparatus for embalming the bodies of men who die on shipboard.

AGED MAN LOST IN PILLAGER SECTION

Wandered From His Farm While Picking Weeds Yesterday Morning; Search Started

BRAINERD ASKED TO HELP

Relatives Fear Man May Have Been Overcome by Heat or is Wandering Aimlessly

An aged man, blind in one eye, was believed today to be wandering aimlessly about in the vicinity of Pillager without knowledge of direction.

Fear was also expressed for the safety of the man, M. E. Wheeler, Pillager farmer, who disappeared from his home at 9 a. m. yesterday while picking weeds in his garden.

With the thought in mind that the 70 year old man might have become overcome by the heat waves of men joined in a search today in the vicinity of Pillager and assistance was asked of the Brainerd police department to look for him here.

The man is 5 feet 6 inches tall and is blind in his left eye. He was wearing working clothes when last seen.

TWO 4-H CLUBS HOLD PICNIC AT LUM PARK

The Beaver Dam and Gilbert Lake 4-H clubs held their annual picnic on Thursday at Lum park. In the afternoon the program consisted of stunts, bers of the two clubs. A reading entitled "The Bald Headed Man" was given by Miss Ellen Lively. The 4-H club leader, Fred Johnson, gave a talk to assist the members in arranging their displays at the county fair.

Refreshments consisting of cake and ice cream and sandwiches were served to 35 club members, parents and leaders.

Fashions for the Smart Woman

SHIRRED CAPE COLLAR

Everyone agrees that for some reason printed chiffon frocks seem actually to reduce the temperature of the hottest of midsummer days. This is not so mysterious when they are used for frocks of this type in pale shades of aquamarine with softly flowing cape collars and no sleeves. The hip-yoke really doesn't tie in front, but its curved lines and the bow posed at the waistline give that general effect. Another bow finishes the amusing roll collar. The frock is perfectly complemented by a hat of white Tuscan straw trimmed with an aquamarine ribbon.

Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 5197. Sizes 14 to 42, 50 cents.

Jewish Laws Compiled

The Talmud is a code of Jewish laws consisting of two parts, the Mishna, or text, and the Gemara, the commentary.

And there were countless others in the parade.

Pretty little Alice Hagen, dressed as a rosebud. Seven years old and as beautiful a picture as a master artist could paint. There was no guessing when the judges said "Alice you won" and so this child of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Hagen, 709 South 5th street, copied first as the most picturesque child.

And pretty as you please was nine year old Ruth Deering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Deering, 529 North 3rd street. She was the scene of style in what the very young miss should wear when treading the sands of the beach and doing a bit of swimming. She was stunningly attired in her red bathing suit, red beach shoes and high hat all contrasting so strikingly with her coat of tan.

And there were countless others in the parade.

After snapping the principal winners of the parade, the cameraman couldn't resist taking "shots" of Marilyn Sheets, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sheets, 213 North First Street, who deigned to hide her beauty under a coat of burned cork. She was "Aunt Jemima," only much smaller. And then there was Myron Elliott, 10, and his brother, dressed in "roughies"; Duana, 5, and Donald Carbine, 9, decked out in cowboy outfits with toy guns at their belts.

The day was unquestionably a marvelous success. There is every assurance that the event will be made an annual one for the kiddies.

Earl R. Berg, water safety director, was at the helm of all activities.

Ruth Ericsson has taken a lease on the 622 Front street location and will operate a beauty salon there, according to an announcement today.

A permanent wave will be given to the woman suggesting the most suitable name for the new establishment. The contest will close August 19.

A number of chums of Doris Dixon gathered at her home yesterday in honor of her eighth birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing ball and just too creamy for words and so the a luncheon was served. Doris received a number of very nice gifts.

Those present included: Marion, Louise, Jimmy and Pat Holsapple, Mable and Jane Fleischhaker, Lila and Carol Nelson, Freddy Nelson, Margorie and Beulah Trugate, Marie, Margaret, Lloyd and Gene Campbell, Sylvia Kemp, Barbara, Ardis and Beverly Jean Holsapple, Alice and Lois Sewell, Mrs. Royse and Mrs. Taloria Holsapple.

GUNS PLACED IN STORES TO THWART HOLDUP MEN

New System of Protection From Bandits Instituted in Downtown Brainerd

EXPERTS TO MAN GUNS

General Alarm to be Spread in Emergency; Banks Reduce Cash on Hand

The city of Brainerd has armed itself against any invasion of bandits by the placing of shotguns at points of advantage in the business section. These guns are under the supervision of the Brainerd Police department and the County Sheriff's department and will be manned in any emergency by men deadly in aim. The operation of the new system will be that of a rapid alarm in spreading of information regarding a holdup even while it is being perpetrated.

By this way banks of the city will receive even more protection than the recent addition of two plainclothes men in the downtown section.

Banks of the city carried notices in their establishments today to the effect that for protection from bandits that cash on hand will be reduced to the lowest working point and that any larger requirement should be arranged for in advance.

This policy is advocated by the Minnesota Bankers Association and is in force in the majority of banks of the state outside the Twin Cities.

Band to Picnic

The Brainerd ladies band will be entertained tomorrow by Miss Jettie Oien and Miss Marie Hoffbauer at the Hoffbauer summer home on North Round Lake. A luncheon will be served and the afternoon spent in swimming and boating.

LIFE THREATENED BY AN ANONYMOUS LETTER RECEIVED

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—His life threatened by an anonymous letter writer, Dist. Atty. Herman R. Slen continued his investigation today of the Jack Zuta gangland murder near here two weeks ago.

"We just ask you to please lay off this Zuta case if you think anything of your home and family. You and everyone else knows what Price got," the letter read in part.

The handwriting was almost unreadable and the letter was mailed in Milwaukee.

"I have noticed," the district attorney said, "that these gangsters don't bother to warn their victims. They just walk in and shoot you."

U. S. Geological Survey Resumes Its Work Again

Washington.—With the arrival of spring the United States geological survey has resumed field operations.

Some 250 parties, ranging in size from one geologist to surveying groups of six or seven men, will be dispatched from Washington within the next month.

This year economies in transportation are being affected through concentrating the geological survey's fleet of automobiles near headquarters. Already 30 cars loaded with engineers and instruments have left Washington bound for Kentucky, Virginia, New York and other nearby states.

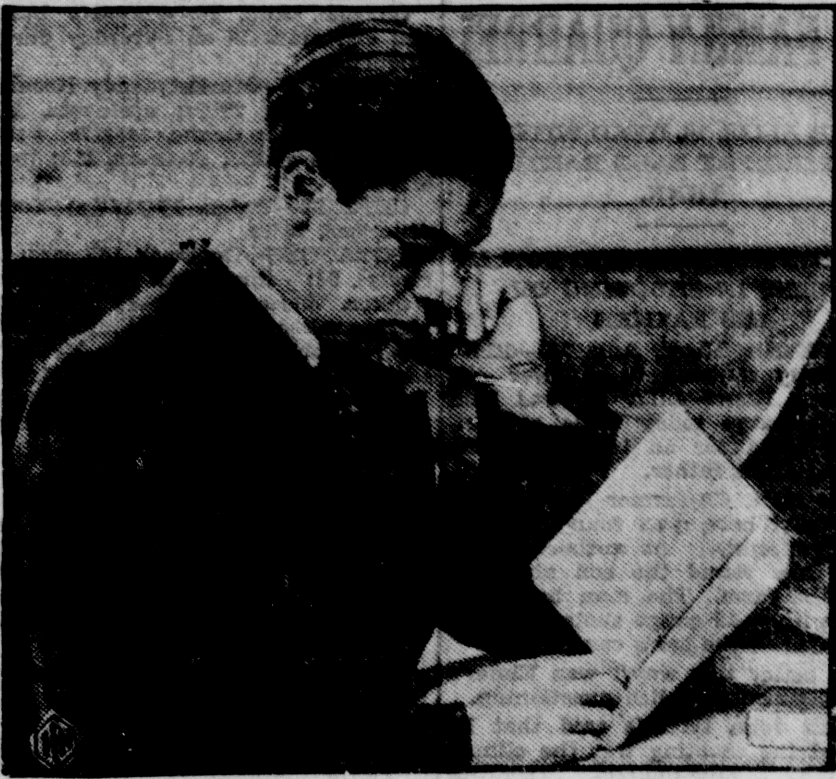

Preparing for the season's research, the division of field equipment of the geological survey is one of the busiest units in the government service at this time of the year.

Here the instruments of geologists and engineers, some of them worth several thousand dollars apiece, are undergoing repairs. A 17 jewel watch is like a mechanical toy to some of these instruments, adjustments of which are often computed in milliseconds of an inch.

3,000 PACK PARK FOR 'WHOOPEE DAY'

Biggest Day in History of City is Seen for Boys and Girls Here

PARADE, RIOT OF COLOR

Everybody Enjoys Big Event; Moving Pictures Record Features

What an afternoon this turned out to be for the boys and girls of Brainerd. Never before in the history of this city have youngsters responded so wholeheartedly in an adventure as to that shown in the boys and girls "Whoopee Day" and picnic at Lum Park sponsored by the Brainerd Park board.

And adventure there was. Kids, knee high to a grasshopper to long legged ones were there in gayly holiday mood.

There was not one little thing lacking in the afternoon's events.

By 1:15 p. m. there was an estimated attendance at the park of 3,000 of which a couple hundred were parents and adults.

And fun! There was one continual round of it from the start of the parade of hundreds of boys and girls in gayly colored costumes on through the sport events and novelty competition which included a good old fashioned pie eating contest, many faces smiling through coverings of blueberry juice.

Ten year old Harold Gallagher with his dog "Teddy" was a show in himself. He called himself "Rastus." He might have been called any number of names for in his costume he had everything from patches of mother's crazy quilt to "gunnysack" cloth. And smeared all over his face was black soot and atop his head rested a straw hat that had seen fair days ten years ago. Wherever the young fellow got the cigar no one questioned. He was just too screaming for words and so the judges decided in giving him first place in the competition for the most comically dressed youngster in the parade.

Then there was Rudolph Drieling, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Drieling, 611 Second avenue N. E. He was the baron, a gentleman to the word. V hat with his topper, flowing tie, swallow tail coat and cane, there was no telling that Lord Byron had not stepped into the midst of the gay throng.

Pretty little Alice Hagen, dressed as a rosebud. Seven years old and as beautiful a picture as a master artist could paint. There was no guessing when the judges said "Alice you won" and so this child of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Hagen, 709 South 5th street, copied first as the most picturesque child.

And pretty as you please was nine year old Ruth Deering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Deering, 520 North 3rd street. She was the acme of style in the very young miss should wear when treading the sands of the beach and doing a bit of swimming. She was stunningly attired in her red bathing suit, red beach shoes and high hat all contrasting so strikingly with her coat of tan.

And there were countless others in bewitching costumes and funny ones. At the front of the parade which would put envy in the hearts of the sponsors of the famous Mardi Gras, came the Legion Auxiliary band, marching with snap and playing a catching tune which made the kids step high and march proudly past the reviewers' stand. And recording every bit of the interesting features was a cameraman who caught the boys and girls in their happy moods to tell everybody about it later on the screen. These pictures will be rushed to the Twin Cities where they will be developed and returned with haste to the Paramount theatre in Brainerd where they will be shown about the middle of next week.

After snapping the principal winners of the parade, the cameraman couldn't resist taking "shots" of Marilyn Sheets, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sheets, 213 North First Street, who deigned to hide her beauty under a coat of burned cork. She was "Aunt Jemima," only much smaller. And then there was Myron Elliott, 10, and his brother, dressed in "roughies"; Duana, 5, and Donald Carbine, 9, decked out in cowboy outfits with toy guns at their belts.

The day was unquestionably a marvelous success. There is every assurance that the event will be made an annual one for the kiddies.

Earl R. Berg, water safety director, was at the helm of all activities.

SUSPECT IN MASSACRE STEALS SHOTGUN HERE

Pat O'Connor Arrested in Omaha Last Evening Attempted to Pawn Weapon
SHERIFF GETS WORD

Montgomery Ward Company Manager Identifies Make of the Gun

Pat O'Connor, arrested in Omaha last evening when he attempted to pawn a shotgun and is held as a suspect in the slaying of the three gangsters in the White Bear massacre, has confessed to Omaha authorities that he stole the gun from the Montgomery Ward store in Brainerd, according to word received today by Sheriff Claus A. Theorin.

James M. Owen, manager of the local Ward store identified the make of the gun as the one which mysteriously was taken from the store last Saturday afternoon.

The gun in possession of Omaha authorities is that of a Browning Automatic Shotgun.

County authorities wired Omaha to the effect that if O'Connor is wanted there, that crime would have preference over the one committed here.

Further information on the case is desired by county authorities here before they proceed with action against O'Connor.

O'Connor, according to Omaha, has served a term in the Nebraska State Prison for larceny.

Saunders Interests Will Not Fight Half Million Payment

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Abandoning a previously announced stand, Clarence Saunders and the Clarence Saunders corporation announced here today they would not fight payment of a $500,000 note held on the insolvent Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., by eastern banking firms. The announcement was made by Saunders, former president of the Piggly Wiggly Co., and nationally prominent grocery store head, who said the firm had decided to avoid a long and costly court fight and pay the debt.

FIGHT'S 2 YEAR COURT BATTLE TO GET BOY'S CUSTODY

Cleveland, O., Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Dorothy May Swetting, of Berlin, Ohio, was on her way home today with her 9-year-old son, Rodney, Jr., having won a partial victory in her two year court battle for custody of the boy.

Her ex-husband, Joseph Rodney Swetting, who has been confined to a sanitarium in Stevens Point, Wis., was awarded custody of the child when the couple were divorced in 1925. The daughter, Margaret Ann, 11, was given to Mrs. Swetting.

Yesterday Judge Carl V. Weygradt ordered that because of Swetting's confinement in the sanitarium the boy should be returned to his mother.

"WHERE'S EMILY?"

by CAROLYN WELLS

CHAPTER XLV.

DOCTOR EATON left the sick-room with a heavy heart. He knew a lot about the results of shell shock, and this present case showed many similar symptoms. His diagnosis, corroborated by his confreres, was that the whole illness of Emily was the result of shock by some frightening occurrence or series of occurrences. The latter most likely, for one shock, however great, could scarcely reduce a strong, healthy girl to this pitiable, trembling wreck of humanity.

But the doctors all agreed there was nothing to be done but wait and let nature do all it could by itself in a recuperating way.

Emily took the nourishment they offered and swallowed milk or broth naturally and with no unwillingness. This led to a more assured opinion that physically there was little the matter with her.

But when the sedative effect wore off and consciousness began to return, then came about the terrible spells of hysteria and apparent dementia.

About dawn Emily had one of these attacks and became so violent that they were obliged to restrain her by force.

"I must get out of the window," she cried, not loudly, but with a low, piteous moan. "I must get out of the window!"

"Yes, dear," soothed the nurse, "yes, you shall get out of the window. Just wait till afternoon. Take a little nap first."

And so receptive was Emily's disordered brain that she obeyed and went to sleep as suggested.

Then in a moment she was wild again, tossing her restless head and throwing her arms about.

Patiently the nurse soothed her and tried to calm her. Sometimes the efforts were successful, sometimes not, but the nurses, frequently relieved, were indefatigable and persistent in their determination to do their part toward the recovery of Emily Duane.

Not only was it a celebrated case, as well as the most important and interesting case the hospital had ever had in its brief career, but they all loved Emily, they all admired Rodney, and they envied one another in their work of rescue.

At seven o'clock, when Emily chanced to be quiet, a nurse took occasion to tell Rodney he had better go home and freshen up and get his breakfast.

"You can breakfast here if you like," she went on, smiling at him, "but I'm sure you'll fare better at Knollwood. And you can't see Miss Duane today in any case. Perhaps not for several days."

"But she's getting better. She's doing all right?" begged Rodney, and the nurse was moved to give him some details.

"Yes," she said, picking her words carefully, "she's doing all the doctors can expect or hope for at present. They want to build her up physically before she is questioned or even spoken to."

"Has she said anything at all?"

"Nothing coherent. I was with her about three or four o'clock, when she woke suddenly and seemed to want to talk. I didn't discourage her exactly, and she tried hard to say something. But she couldn't get the words right. Then she waved her arms about and said thickly, 'Can't talk—get pen—' So I offered her a pencil and a paper pad. But she only stared at me and said, 'No, no—get pen—' Well, of course, I didn't dare bring pen and ink, for she's likely to fling it all over the sheets, so I said, 'Yes, dear, tomorrow we'll get a pen for you,' and she smiled almost rationally, and dropped off to sleep like a lamb." Rodney listened, glad to hear any details, and then he said: "Thank you, nurse. It's plain to be seen she wants to tell of her experiences, but she can't command her speech yet. If the doctor will let you, give her a pen today, but, of course, don't do anything he thinks unwise."

"No, sir," said the nurse, demurely, quite willing to let this nice young man think he was giving her valuable advice.

Sayre went back to Knollwood, greatly heartened by his talk with the nurse. It brought Emily nearer to him to hear these details of what she was doing and saying. Had he known the real truth of her terrible night, he would have felt less secure of her ultimate recovery.

At the breakfast table all tried to be cheerful and hopeful. Aunt Judy was frankly jubilant over it all, being careful to quote the exact words of the nurse. "I shall have to go right to New York," Stone said, as they rose from the table. "Pete, you keep an eye and ear for anything that may happen. Of course, nobody can question Emily or even see her, I suppose, but get from the nurses a full account of anything she says or does. It may mean everything in our search for the villain who brought all this about. I shall stop at the hospital before I go to the train, for there may be some further news."

Stone hurried off, and though wondering what had given him this new impetus they could scarcely think it was Emily's suggestion of writing what she could not say.

And yet it was.

Fleming Stone stopped at the hospital on his way to the station and asked for Doctor Eaton and for the nurse who had been with Emily during the early morning

"I offered her a pencil and pad, but she only stared and said 'No—no—get pen.'"

Emily's return and was sure that she would soon be her own self again.

Pete was worrying about the police. He hadn't mentioned it, but he felt sure the moment Emily was well enough they would arrest her for Polly Pennington's murder. Emily arrested for murder! The idea was so absurd as to seem impossible, but Pete knew how strongly Lawlor believed in the girl's guilt, and whatever the outcome might be it would mean a lot of trouble and publicity.

Betty was a little downcast, for she had had a relative who had lost his mind through the effects of shock, and she secretly feared for Emily.

Fleming Stone, pleasant and kindly as always, was abstracted and thoughtful.

He roused to sharp attention when Rodney related what the nurse had told him.

For Sayre, so pleased himself to learn details of his darling's doings, wanted to pass the story on to interest Aunt Judy and Betty.

But of them all Stone showed the deepest interest.

"Tell that again, Sayre," he said, excitedly. "Tell it exactly as the nurse told it to you."

Nothing loath, Rodney repeated

hours.

"You see, doctor," the detective said, "our suspicions are well founded. I don't know where Emily has been kept these six days, but we do know who kept her captive. We don't know how she got out, and we can't know until either she or her captor tells us."

They talked a few moments longer and then the nurse they had summoned appeared.

"Has Miss Duane said anything rational?" Stone asked her.

"Not rational, no," she replied. "But she babbles a great deal. Most of it is incoherent and of no sense at all. But some few phrases recur continually. She is always asking for a pen, but given either a pen or a pencil, she cannot use them. She makes meaningless marks on the paper and then throws them down. And she says over and over 'double you, double you.' Whether she means the letter W or what she means, I don't know. But it's everlastingly, 'double you, double you,' and once she said clearly, 'Remember, double you!' and then she went off into unconsciousness again."

"Thank you," Stone said, speaking so fervently that the nurse stared.

SHOOTING BELIEVED CLIMAX OF LONG FAMILY QUARREL

ELMER ALLIS, 16, HELD WITHOUT CHARGE AT BLUE EARTH, MINN.

AUTHORITIES PREPARE FOR INQUEST IN SHOOTING OF HIS FATHER

Blue Earth, Minn., Aug. 16.—(UP)—Steadfastly refusing to answer all questions, Elmer Allis, 16, was held without charge today while authorities prepared for an inquest in the shooting of his father.

Amos Allis, 62, farmer living three miles from here, was found shot to death yesterday. As authorities arrived, they found the son about 16 leave the farm. The man had been killed with a 12 gauge shotgun which was found in the son's car.

"It's better this way," was Elmer's only response to police questioning. Sheriff John Bachtel said that he believed the shooting was the climax of a long family quarrel. Deputies summoned to the farm by neighbors said that neighbors had told them that the boy had threatened his mother with death if she made an outcry over the killing.

Allis was held in jail without charge pending the outcome of the inquest scheduled for late today.

Early Congress

The second session of the Sixth congress was the first session held in Washington, the National Capital. The congress assembled November 22, 1890.

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss., in Probate Court.

No. 2922

In the Matter of the Guardianship of Fred Dehning, Anna Dehning and Mary Dehning, Minors.

The State of Minnesota, To the above named Fred Dehning, Anna Dehning, and Mary Dehning, minors, respectively, and all persons interested in the leasing of certain lands belonging to the estate of said minors, respectively, for a period of seventy-five years for mining purposes.

The petition of Mary Dehning, as guardian of the person and estate of the above named minors, respectively, being duly filed in this Court representing that it is necessary and for the best interest of the estate of said named minors, respectively, and all persons interested therein, that certain lands and mineral interests of said minors, respectively, described therein be leased for a period of seventy-five years for mining purposes in the manner and form as proposed in the form of lease attached to and filed with the said petition, marked exhibit "A" and made a part thereof, and praying for authority and license, to lease, said described land or interests therein, under the terms and conditions therein said lease proposed, and authorizing her, the petitioner, as such guardian, to sign and execute the said proposed lease to and with the said person or persons therein shown, for and on behalf of the said named minors, respectively.

Now, Therefore, You and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms, in the City of Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing and State of Minnesota, on the 8th day of September, 1930, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness, The Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court, this 16th day of August, 1930.

(Probate Court Seal) W. V. SMALL, Clerk of Probate Court.

"WHERE'S EMILY?"

by CAROLYN WELLS

CHAPTER XLV.

DOCTOR EATON left the sick-room with a heavy heart. He knew a lot about the results of shell shock, and the present case showed many similar symptoms. His diagnosis, corroborated by his confreres, was that the whole illness of Emily was the result of shock by some frightening occurrence or series of occurrences. The latter most likely, for one shock, however great, could scarcely reduce a strong, healthy girl to this pitiable, trembling wreck of humanity.

But the doctors all agreed there was nothing to be done but wait and let nature do all it could by itself in a recuperating way.

Emily took the nourishment they offered and swallowed milk or broth naturally and with no unwillingness. This led to a more assured opinion that physically there was little the matter with her.

But when the sedative effect wore off and consciousness began to return, the nurse about the terrible spells of hysteria and apparent dementia.

About dawn Emily had one of these attacks and became so violent that they were obliged to restrain her by force.

"I must get out of the window," she cried, not loudly, but with a low, piteous moan. "I must get out of the window!"

"Yes, dear," soothed the nurse, "yes, you shall get out of the window. Just wait till afternoon. Take a little nap first."

And so receptive was Emily's disordered brain that she obeyed and went to sleep as suggested.

Then in a moment she was wild again, tossing her restless head and throwing her arms about.

Patience the nurse soothed her and tried to calm her. Sometimes the efforts were successful, sometimes not, but the nurses, frequently relieved, were indefatigable and persistent in their determination to do their part toward the recovery of Emily Duane.

Not only was it a celebrated case, as well as the most important and interesting case the hospital had ever had in its brief career, but they all loved Emily, they all admired Rodney, and they envied one another in their work of rescue.

At seven o'clock, when Emily chanced to be quiet, a nurse took occasion to tell Rodney he had better go home and freshen up and get his breakfast.

"You can breakfast here if you like," she went on, smiling at him, "but I'm sure you'll fare better at Knollwood. And you can't see Miss Duane today in any case. Perhaps not for several days."

"But she's getting better. She's doing all right," begged Rodney, and the nurse was moved to give him some details.

"Yes," she said, picking her words carefully, "she's doing all the doctors can expect or hope for at present. They want to build her up physically before she is questioned or even spoken to."

"Has she said anything at all?"

"Nothing coherent. I was with her about three or four o'clock, when she woke suddenly and seemed to want to talk. I didn't discourage her exactly, and she tried hard to say something. But she couldn't get the words right. Then she waved her arms about and said thickly, 'Can't talk—get pen—' So I offered her a pencil and a paper pad. But she only stared at me and said, 'No, no—get pen—' Well, of course, I didn't dare bring pen and ink, for she's likely to fling it all over the sheets, so I said, 'Yes, dear, tomorrow we'll get a pen for you,' and she smiled almost rationally, and dropped off to sleep like a lamb."

Rodney listened, glad to hear any details, and then he said: "Thank you, nurse. It's plain to be seen she wants to tell of her experiences, but she can't command her speech yet. If the doctor will let you, give her a pen today, but, of course, don't do anything he thinks unwise."

"No, sir," said the nurse, demurely, quite willing to let this nice young man think he was giving her valuable advice.

Sayre went back to Knollwood, greatly heartened by his talk with the nurse. It brought Emily nearer to him to hear these details of what she was doing and saying. Had he known the real truth of her terrible night, he would have felt less secure of her ultimate recovery.

At the breakfast table all tried to be cheerful and hopeful. Aunt Judy was frankly jubilant over it all, being careful to quote the exact words of the nurse.

"I shall have to go right to New York," Stone said, as they rose from the table. "Pete, you keep an eye and ear for anything that may happen. Of course, no body can question Emily or even see her, I suppose, but get from the nurses a full account of anything she says or does. It may mean everything in our search for the villain who brought all this about. I shall stop at the hospital before I go to the train, for there may be some further news."

Stone hurried off, and though wondering what had given him this new impetus they could scarcely think it was Emily's suggestion of writing what she could not say.

And yet it was.

Fleming Stone stopped at the hospital on his way to the station and asked for Doctor Eaton and for the nurse who had been with Emily during the early morning

"I offered her a pencil and pad, but she only stared and said 'No—no—get pen.'"

Emily's return and was sure that she would soon be her own self again.

Pete was worrying about the police. He hadn't mentioned it, but he felt sure the moment Emily was well enough they would arrest her for Polly Pennington's murder. Emily arrested for murder! The idea was so absurd as to seem impossible, but Pete knew how strongly Lawlor believed in the girl's guilt, and whatever the outcome might be it would mean a lot of trouble and publicity.

Betty was a little downcast, for she had had a relative who had lost his mind through the effects of shock, and she secretly feared for Emily.

Fleming Stone, pleasant and kindly as always, was abstracted and thoughtful.

He roused to sharp attention when Rodney related what the nurse had told him.

For Sayre, so pleased himself to learn details of his darling's doings, wanted to pass the story on to interest Aunt Judy and Betty.

But of them all Stone showed the deepest interest.

"Tell that again, Sayre," he said, excitedly. "Tell it exactly as the nurse told it to you."

Nothing loath, Rodney repeated

hours.

"You see, doctor," the detective said, "our suspicions are well founded. I don't know where Emily has been kept these six days, but we do know who kept her captive. We don't know how she got out, and we can't know until either she or her captor tells us."

They talked a few moments longer and then the nurse they had summoned appeared.

"Has Miss Duane said anything rational?" Stone asked her.

"Not rational, no," she replied. "But she babbles a great deal. Most of it is incoherent and of no sense at all. But some few phrases recur continually. She is always asking for a pen, but I never give her one or a pencil, she cannot use them. She makes meaningless marks on the paper and then throws them down. And she says over and over 'double you, double you.' Whether she means the letter W or what she means, I don't know. But it's everlastingly, 'double you, double you,' and once she said clearly, 'Remember, double you!' and then she went off into unconsciousness again."

"Thank you," Stone said, speaking so fervently that the nurse stared.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

SHOOTING BELIEVED CLIMAX OF LONG FAMILY QUARREL

ELMER ALLIS, 16, HELD WITHOUT CHARGE AT BLUE EARTH, MINN.

AUTHORITIES PREPARE FOR INQUEST IN SHOOTING OF HIS FATHER

Blue Earth, Minn., Aug. 16.—(UP)—Steadfastly refusing to answer all questions, Elmer Allis, 16, was held without charge today while authorities prepared for an inquest in the shooting of his father.

Amos Allis, 62, farmer living three miles from here, was found shot to death yesterday. As authorities arrived, they found the son about to leave the farm. The man had been killed with a 12 gauge shotgun which was found in the son's car.

"It's better this way," was Elmer's only response to police questioning.

Sheriff John Bahtle said that he believed the shooting was the climax of a long family quarrel. Deputies summoned to the farm by neighbors said that neighbors had told them that the boy had threatened his mother with death if she made an outcry over the killing.

Allis was held in jail without charge pending the outcome of the inquest scheduled for late today.

As Hawks Crossed the U. S. in 12 1/2 Hours

Capt. Frank Hawks, flying from Los Angeles, Cal., to New York, in 12 hours, 25 minutes and 3 seconds, smashed all records, including that recently made by

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The daring aviator is pictured as his low-winged red and white plane raced out of the skies and landed at Curtiss Field, L. I., after he had beaten Lindbergh's record by 2 hours, 20 minutes and 29 seconds. He plans another flight to beat his own record.

"PONTIAC PRAYING TO THE SUN"—By H. M. Herget. Pontiac, chief of the Ottawa tribe, born about 1720, was one of the greatest Indians in American history. He took part in several important battles in and about the Pittsburgh district, leading the Ottawas against General Braddock in July, 1755, attacked and besieged Fort Pitt in 1763, and the same year fought the relief expedition, led by Colonel Henry Bouquet, at Bushy Run, near the present town of Irwin. Pontiac had unusual powers of organization among his followers. He was killed near St. Louis in 1769, his death resulting in a bitter war between the Ottawa and Illinois tribes. The artist, who lives in St. Louis, has painted many Indian scenes and characters. Reproduced through the courtesy of the Wunderly Brothers Galleries.

TRULY Majestic is the million dollar radio set. It took years of hard work, years of research, years of tireless effort on the part of forty picked scientists and engineers. It took more than a million dollars cash for experimental work to produce these great receivers. Each and every one of them shows what master minds working with unlimited resources may achieve in glorious Colorful Tone. Their reproduction of every intonation—every voice and musical instrument—is as natural as if the artist or speaker were present in your own living room.

In addition to our own research, we have paid hundreds of thousands for the discoveries of other famous laboratories. We retained independent engineers and sound experts. We studied and analyzed every part used in radio. We measured their tone—their power—their life. We found their weaknesses—redesigned and improved them. We traced and ended every source of distortion. We spared no effort or expense in our determination to reach absolute perfection in radio.

These wonderful new Majestics give you a choice of two famous circuits, two powerful kinds of tubes, speakers developed beyond any others known in radio. They are yours in a choice of ten beautiful cabinet styles, ten sizes and prices. There is a Majestic for every home—every purse—every taste.

Phone or call on your Majestic dealer today—there is one near you. Buy any one of these ten great models. You are absolutely sure of the greatest radio value money can buy. You are sure of Colorful Tone you never dreamed of having a radio set bring into your living room. Grigsby-Grunow Company, Chicago, Ill. World's Largest Manufacturers of Complete Radio Receivers.

SECTION OF CASTILLA — Most elaborate of Sorolla Murels; the complete painting is nearly forty feet long and ten feet high and contains hundreds of figures. Castilla is one of the historic provinces of Spain and the painting is a gathering of gaily costumed peasant folk and a religious procession. Painted by Joaquin Sorolla y Bestida, a Spanish painter of world wide reputation, reproduced through the courtesy of Hispanic Museum of New York City.

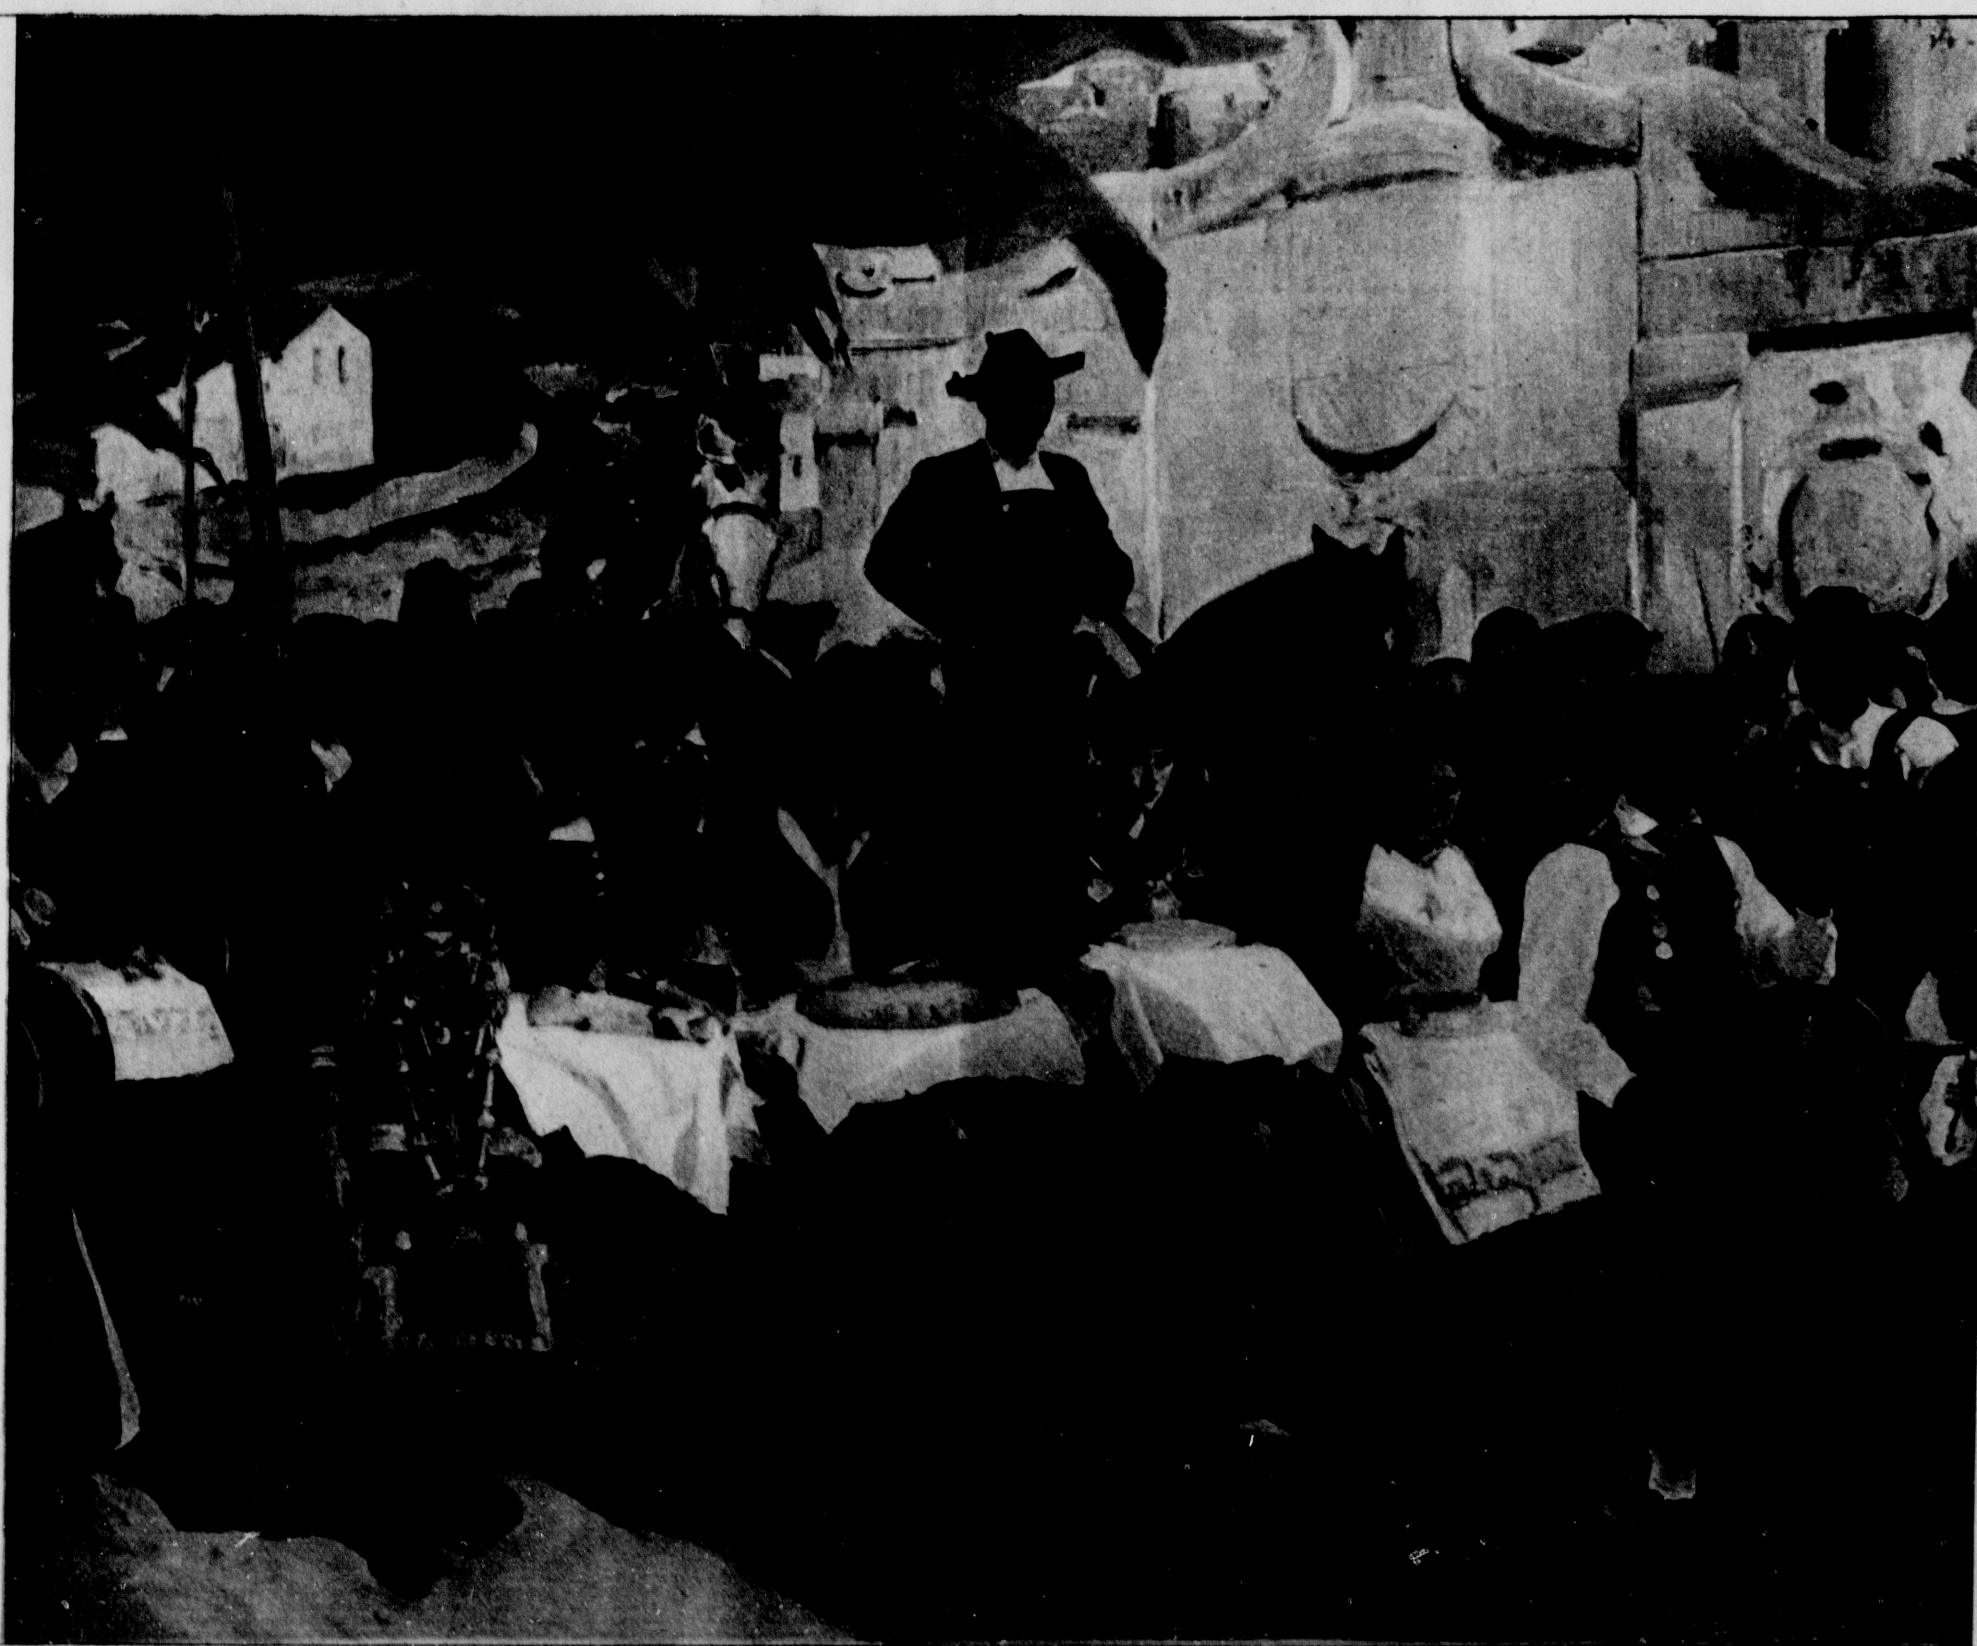

SUNDAY — There are still two dreamers in this world; the artist and his wife. Through modernism of the present day they see visions of centuries gone, and those dreams they fix on their canvasses. Painted by the Russian artists, L. and R. Brailowsky, reproduced through the courtesy of the Brooklyn Museum of Art, Brooklyn, N. Y.
